XIX.—REGULATIONS CONCERNING PRECEDENCE OF DIPLOMATIC AGENTS.

The rules on this subject which have been prescribed by the Department are the same as those contained in the seven rules of the Congress of Vienna, found in the protocol of the session of March 9, 1815, and in the supplementary or eighth rule of the Congress of Aix la Chapelle of November 21, 1818. They are as follows:

ARTICLE I. Diplomatic agents are divided into three classes: That of ambassadors, legates, or nuncios; that of envoys, ministers, or other persons accredited to sovereigns; that of chargés d'affaires accredited to ministers for foreign affairs.

ART. II. Ambassadors, legates, or nuncios only have the representative character.

ART. III. Diplomatic agents on an extraordinary mission have not, on that account, any superiority of rank.

ART. IV. Diplomatic agents shall take precedence in their respective classes according to the date of the official notification of their arrival. The present regulation shall not cause any innovation with regard to the representative of the Pope.

ART. V. A uniform mode shall be determined in each state for the reception of diplomatic agents of each class.

ART. VI. Relations of consanguinity or of family alliance between courts confer no precedence on their diplomatic agents. The same rule also applies to political alliances.

ART. VII. In acts or treaties between several powers which grant alternate precedence, the order which is to be observed in the signatures shall be decided by lot between the ministers.

ART. VIII. * * * It is agreed that ministers resident accredited to them shall form, with respect to their precedence, an intermediate class between ministers of the second class and chargés d'affaires.

These rules have been formally or tacitly accepted by all governments except the Ottoman Porte, which divides diplomatic representatives into three classes only—ambassadors, ministers, and chargés d'affaires.

An Act to provide for the reorganization of the Consular Service of the United States, approved April 5, 1906, with subsequent legislation and regulations, provides—

That the consuls general, consuls, and other officers in the Consular Service of the United States shall be classified and graded as appears on pages 200 and 201.

That the office of vice consul (not of career) shall be filled by appointment, as heretofore, except that whenever, in his judgment, the good of the service requires it, consuls may be designated by the President without thereby changing their classification to act for a period not to exceed one year as vice-consul, and when so acting they shall not be deemed to have vacated their offices as consuls. Consular agents may be appointed, when necessary, as heretofore.

That there shall be seven inspectors of consulates, to be designated and commissioned as consuls general at large, who shall receive an annual salary of five thousand dollars each, and shall be paid their actual and necessary traveling and subsistence expenses while traveling and inspecting under instructions from the Secretary of State. They shall be appointed by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate, from the members of the consular force possessing the requisite qualifications of experience and ability. They shall make such inspections of consular offices as the Secretary of State shall direct, and shall report to him. Each consular office shall be inspected at least once in every two years. Whenever the President has reason to believe that the business of a consulate or a consulate-general is not being properly conducted and that it is necessary for the public interest, he may authorize any consul-general at large to suspend the consul or consul general, and administer the office in his stead for a period not exceeding ninety days. In such case the consul general at large so authorized shall have power to suspend any vice consular officer or clerk in said office during the period aforesaid. The provisions of law relating to the official bonds of consuls general, and the provisions of sections seventeen hundred and thirty-four, seventeen hundred and thirty-five, and seventeen hundred and thirty-six, Revised Statutes of the United States, shall apply to consuls-general at large.

No person who is not an American citizen shall be appointed hereafter in any consulate-general or consulate to any clerical position the salary of which is one thousand dollars a year or more.

That sections sixteen hundred and ninety-nine and seventeen hundred of the Revised Statutes of the United States are hereby amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 1699. No consul-general, consul, or consular agent receiving a salary of more than one thousand dollars a year shall, while he holds his office, be interested in or transact any business as a merchant, factor, broker, or other trader, or as a clerk or other agent for any such person to, from, or within the port, place, or limits of his jurisdiction, directly or indirectly, either in his own name, or in the name or through the agency of any other person; nor shall he practice as a lawyer for compensation or be interested in the fees or compensation of any lawyer; and he shall in his official bond stipulate as a condition thereof not to violate this prohibition.

"SEC. 1700. All consular officers whose respective salaries exceed one thousand dollars a year shall be subject to the prohibition against transacting business, practicing as a lawyer, or being interested in the fees or compensation of any lawyer contained in the preceding section. And the President may extend the prohibition to any consul-general, consul, or consular agent whose salary does not exceed one thousand dollars a year or who may be compensated by fees, and to any vice consular officer or consular agent, and may require such officer to give a bond not to violate the prohibition."

That every consular officer of the United States is hereby required, whenever application is made to him therefor, within the limits of his consulate, to administer to or take from any person any oath, affirmation, affidavit, or deposition, and to perform any other notarial act which any notary public is required or authorized by law to do within the United States; and for every such notarial act performed he shall charge in each instance the appropriate fee prescribed by the President under section seventeen hundred and forty-five, Revised Statutes.

That all fees, official or unofficial, received by any officer in the Consular Service for services rendered in connection with the duties of his office or as a consular officer, including fees for notarial services and fees for taking depositions, executing commissions or letters rogatory, settling estates, receiving or paying out moneys, caring for or disposing of property, shall be accounted for and paid into the Treasury of the United States, and the sole and only compensation of such officers shall be by salaries fixed by law; but this shall not apply to consular agents, who shall be paid by one-half of the fees received in their offices, up to a maximum sum of one thousand dollars in any one year, the other half being accounted for and paid into the Treasury of the United States. For such time as any vice consul shall be lawfully authorized to assume charge of a consulate-general or consulate during the absence of the principal officer at the post to which he shall have been appointed or assigned, he shall be entitled to receive, in addition to his regular salary or compensation as a subordinate consular officer or employee, compensation equal to the difference between such salary or compensation and fifty per centum of the salary provided by law for the principal consular officer at such post.

That fees for the consular certification of invoices shall be, and they hereby are, included with the fees for official services for which the President is authorized by section seventeen hundred and forty-five of the Revised Statutes to prescribe rates or tariffs; and sections twenty-eight hundred and fifty-one and seventeen hundred and twenty-one of the Revised Statutes are hereby repealed.

That every consular officer shall be provided and kept supplied with adhesive official stamps, on which shall be printed the equivalent money value of denominations, and to amounts to be determined by the Department of State, and shall account quarterly to the Department of State for the use of such stamps and for such of them as shall remain in his hands.

Whenever a consular officer is required or finds it necessary to perform any consular or notarial act he shall prepare and deliver to the party or parties at whose instance such act is performed a suitable and appropriate document as prescribed in the consular regulations and affix thereto and duly cancel an adhesive stamp or stamps of the denomination or denominations equivalent to the fee prescribed for such consular or notarial act, and no such act shall be legally valid within the jurisdiction of the Government of the United States unless such stamp or stamps is or are affixed and canceled.

XXI. REGULATIONS GOVERNING APPOINTMENTS AND PROMOTIONS IN THE DIPLOMATIC SERVICE AND FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF THE PERSONNEL OF THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

EXECUTIVE ORDERS.

Whereas, The Congress, by Section 1753 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, has provided as follows:—

“The President is authorized to prescribe such regulations for the admission of persons into the civil service of the United States as may best promote the efficiency thereof, and ascertain the fitness of each candidate in respect to age, health, character, knowledge, and ability for the branch of service into which he seeks to enter; and for this purpose he may employ suitable persons to conduct such inquiries, and may prescribe their duties, and establish regulations for the conduct of persons who may receive appointments in the civil service.”

And, Whereas, it is deemed best for the public interest to extend to the Diplomatic Service the aforesaid provision of the Revised Statutes and the general principles embodied in the Civil Service Act of January 16th, 1883:—

The Secretary of State is hereby directed to report from time to time to the President, along with his recommendations, the names of those secretaries of the higher grades in the Diplomatic Service who by reason of efficient service have demonstrated special capacity for promotion to be chiefs of mission.

There shall be kept a careful efficiency record of every officer of the Diplomatic Service, in order that there may be no promotion except upon well-established efficiency as shown in the service, and that retention in the service may be conditioned upon the officers' maintaining a degree of efficiency well up to the average high standard which the interests of the service demand.

Initial appointments from outside the service to secretaryships in the Diplomatic Service shall be only to the Classes of Third Secretary of Embassy, or, in case of higher existent vacancies, of Second Secretary of Legation, or of Secretary of Legation at such post as has assigned to it but one secretary. Vacancies in secretaryships of higher classes shall be filled by promotion from the lower grades of the service, based upon efficiency and ability as shown in the service.

To make it more practicable to extend to the appointment, promotion, transfer, or retention of secretaries in the Diplomatic Service, the civil-service principle of promotion on the basis of efficiency as shown in the service, and in order that the action of the department may be understood by the officers concerned, all secretaryships in the Diplomatic Service shall be graded according to the importance, volume, difficulty, or other aspects of the work done by each mission in proportion to the number of men allotted to it, and this classification shall be made known to the members of the service.

A person separated from a secretaryship in the Diplomatic Service without delinquency or misconduct at his own request in writing may, within a period of one year from the date of such separation, be reinstated in the grade from which he was separated, provided he shall have been originally appointed after the prescribed examination for that grade. In the event, however, that such separation shall be for the purpose of undertaking other work under the Department of State, the limitation of one year for eligibility for reinstatement shall not hold. This rule shall be applicable as regards reinstatements to the Consular Service and also to the Department of State when transfers shall have been to another branch of the foreign service.

The Third Assistant Secretary of State,* the Solicitor for the Department of State, the Chief of the Diplomatic Bureau, the Chief of the Bureau of Appointments, the Chief Examiner of the Civil Service Commission, or such persons as may be designated by the Secretary of State and the Commissioner President of the Civil Service Commission, respectively, to serve in their stead, are hereby constituted a board whose duty it shall be to determine, from among the persons designated by the President for examination, those who are fitted for possible appointment as Secretaries of Embassy or Legation.

The examination herein provided for shall be held in Washington at such times as the needs of the service require. Candidates will be given reasonable notice to attend, and no person shall be designated to take the examination within thirty days of the time set therefor.

The examinations shall be both oral and in writing and shall include the following subjects: international law, diplomatic usage, and a knowledge of at least one modern language other than English, to wit, French, German, or Spanish; also the natural, industrial, and commercial resources and the commerce of the United States, especially with reference to the possibilities of increasing and extending the trade of the United States with foreign countries; American history, government, and institutions; and the modern history since 1850 of Europe, Latin America, and the Far East. The object of the oral examination shall also be to determine the candidate's alertness, general contemporary information, and natural fitness for the service, including mental, moral, and physical qualifications, character, address, and general education and good command of English. In this part of the examination the applications previously filed will be given due weight by the board of examiners. In the determination of the final rating, the written and oral ratings shall be of equal weight. A physical examination shall also be included as supplemental.

Examination papers shall be rated on a scale of 100, and no person with a general rating of less than 80 shall be certified as eligible.

No person shall be certified as eligible who is under twenty-one or over thirty-five † years of age, or who is not a citizen of the United States, or who is not of good character and habits and physically, mentally, and temperamentally qualified for the proper performance of diplomatic work, or who has not been specially designated by the President for appointment to the diplomatic service subject to examination and subject to the occurrence of an appropriate vacancy.

Upon the conclusion of the examinations, the names of the candidates who shall have attained upon the whole examination the required mark will be certified by the Board to the Secretary of State as eligible for appointment.

* As amended by the Executive order of May 31, 1921.

† As amended by the Executive order of April 21, 1915.

The names of candidates will remain on the eligible list for two years, except in the case of such candidates as shall within that period be appointed or shall withdraw their names. Names which have been on the eligible list for two years will be dropped therefrom and the candidates concerned will not again be eligible for appointment unless upon fresh application, designation anew for examination, and the successful passing of such second examination.

Applicants for appointment who are designated to take an examination and who fail to report therefor, shall not be entitled to take a subsequent examination unless they shall have been specifically designated to take such subsequent examination.

In designations for appointment subject to examination and in appointments after examination, due regard will be had to the rule, that as between candidates of equal merit, appointments should be made so as to tend to secure proportional representation of all the States and Territories in the diplomatic service; and neither in the designation for examination or certification or appointment after examination will the political affiliations of the candidates be considered.

The Board of Examiners is authorized to issue such notices and to make all such rules as it may deem necessary to accomplish the object of this regulation.

Transfers from one branch of the foreign service to another shall not occur except upon designation by the President for examination and the successful passing of the examination prescribed for the service to which such transfer is made. Unless the exigencies of the service imperatively demand it, such person to be transferred shall not have preference in designation for the taking of the examination or in the appointment from the eligible list, but shall follow the course of procedure prescribed for all applicants for appointments to the service which he desires to enter. To persons employed in the Department of State at salaries of eighteen hundred dollars or more, the preceding rule shall not apply and they may be appointed, on the basis of ability and efficiency, to any grade of the diplomatic service.

The Secretary of State may, as provided by Rule III of the present Civil Service Rules, request the Civil Service Commission to hold special examinations for the position of clerk of class two or above in the Department of State, such examination to follow generally and so far as the Secretary of State shall deem practicable, the lines of the present foreign service examinations.

In the case of promotions in the Department of State to the grades of clerk of class two or above, the Secretary of State may require the passing of an examination in the general nature of the present diplomatic or consular service examinations.

With further reference to the matter of promotions in the Department of State, the Secretary of State is directed to cause to be kept, as a guide in determining the promotion or retention of the personnel, a careful record of the efficiency of each clerk in the Department.

WM. H. TAFT.

THE WHITE HOUSE, November 26, 1909.

The Executive order of October 13, 1905, as amended on May 17, 1919, is hereby amended to read as follows:

No officer or employee of the Government shall, directly or indirectly, instruct or be concerned in any manner in the instruction of any person or classes of persons, with a view to their special preparation for the examinations of the United States Civil Service Commission. The fact that any officer or employee is found so engaged shall be considered sufficient cause for his removal from the service: Provided, That this order shall not be so construed as to prevent the Federal Board for Vocational Education, the Medical Departments of the Army and Navy, and any other branches of the Government from utilizing the Government facilities and the services of Federal officers and employees where such facilities or services may be necessary or useful in carrying out the duties imposed upon such departments or branches by law, in the training and testing of disabled soldiers, sailors, and marines.

As amended the order extends to Government establishments generally the exemption heretofore made in the case of the Federal Board of Vocational Education.

WOODROW WILSON.

THE WHITE HOUSE, 13 January, 1920.

SAMPLE EXAMINATION FOR THE DIPLOMATIC SERVICE.

The following questions are furnished as suggestive of the character of those comprised in the examination—for the taking of which two days of six hours each are allowed:

SUBJECT—INTERNATIONAL LAW.

1. (a) State the origin and nature of international law and indicate the chief factors in its modern development.

(b) What is the status of international law in American jurisprudence; i. e., is it regarded as a branch of municipal law or is it considered a foreign system?

(c) State some of the leading writers in international law, enumerate some textbooks on the subject, and state what books you would refer to if a question of international law arose with which you are unfamiliar.

2. (a) Upon the execution of Louis XVI, the British Government refused to receive the French diplomatic agent and sent him his passports. Was the action of the British Government correct?

(b) Napoleon III began a suit in the Supreme Court of the United States. Upon his dethronement and the establishment of the French Republic on September 3, 1870, it was contended that the suit abated by reason of the deposition of the Emperor Napoleon. What, in your opinion, should be the holding on this point?

(c) Cotton owned by the Confederate States was shipped to their agents in Liverpool, who paid the expenses of transportation, took possession of the cotton, stored it in warehouses, and guarded it at considerable expense. Upon the fall of the Confederacy the United States filed a bill, praying to have the cotton delivered to a duly constituted agent of the United States. The agents of the Confederacy seek to enforce a lien on the cotton for their expenses. How, in your opinion, should the court decide?

3. (a) A local statute forbids fishing within the three-mile limit without a license and forbids, under penalty of confiscation of the vessel, all fishing on Sunday. The sloop Venturesome began fishing Sunday morning beyond the three-mile limit, but after the nets had been laid and the fish surrounded the Venturesome drifted within the three-mile limit and was apprehended while taking the fish from the nets placed beyond the three-mile limit, but which had drifted within the limit. Upon suit brought for confiscation of the vessel, what, in your opinion, would be the holding of the court?

(b) Suppose the vessel had begun fishing within the three-mile limit, and noticing the approach of a revenue cutter put to sea. The cutter followed, captured the Venturesome upon the high seas, brought it to port, and began condemnation proceedings. What, in your opinion, should be the holding of the court?

4. (a) A diplomatic agent, driving his automobile at a rate of speed forbidden by law, runs over and seriously injures a passer-by. The chauffeur is notified by the police to go with him to the police station but refuses. The policeman thereupon arrests him, the diplomatic agent protesting that he must be driven at once to the State Department on important business for his Government. If consulted, what would you advise the diplomatic agent and the chauffeur as to their rights and duties in the premises.

(b) A diplomatic agent leases a house for the period of two years at an annual rental of five thousand dollars, payable monthly. The agent pays rent for the first three months, but thereafter neglects to pay the rent when due. At the expiration of a year the owner of the house seeks to evict the diplomat and files an action to recover the rent due and damages for the breach of the lease. What, in your opinion, should be the result? Would it make any difference in your answer if instead of a diplomat the tenant was a consul-general?

5. (a) The late President Castro proceeded to La Guaira upon a French merchant ship. Upon his arrival in La Guaira the Venezuelan authorities came aboard and demanded Castro, but the captain refused to deliver him. The Venezuelan authorities thereupon withdrew, and the captain, fearing that force would be used, transferred Castro to a French man-of-war lying in the harbor. Upon demand made upon the man-of-war to surrender Castro and refusal, a land battery opened fire upon the man-of-war. Discuss and distinguish the two situations.

(b) During the recent revolution in Constantinople one X, a member of the late Turkish Cabinet, applied to the American embassy for admission and was admitted. One Y, a member of the recent Government, indicted for the misappropriation of funds, secretly entered the American embassy. Z, an opponent of the revolution, pursued by a mob, seeks refuge in the American embassy. What should be the action of the American embassy in each of these cases?

Would it make any difference, in your opinion, if the events described had taken place in Paris upon the overthrow of Napoleon III or in Brazil upon the expulsion of Dom Pedro?

6. A Japanese army crosses the boundary between Korea and China at 1.30 a. m., on May 15, 19—. News of the invasion of China by Japanese forces does not reach Manila until May 17, 19—. On May 16, without any knowledge of the state of affairs created by the invasion of China, X, Y & Z, an American firm, shipped on board an American steamer a cargo of arms and ammunition, destined to a Chinese port, in fulfillment of a contract previously entered into. The vessel is captured by a Japanese cruiser on the ground that war existed between China and Japan. X, Y & Z asked the good offices of the American embassy at Tokyo to secure the release of the cargo on the ground that there was no declaration of war and the American shippers did not and could not know at the date of the shipment of the hostile relation between Japan and China. What advice would you give to the representative of X, Y & Z?

7. Discuss the effect of war upon trade; upon executory and executed contracts.

8. (a) Define contraband, state its divisions, and the penalty for its carriage if captured.

(b) Define blockade and note the conditions under which a declaration is valid as binding upon neutrals.

9. State the requirements of a valid capture of (a) enemy and (b) neutral property upon the high seas. State when title passes to captor in each case and the formalities requisite to give a perfect title to captured property.

10. (a) Enumerate some of the more important recent international conferences and state some of their most important results.

(b) Explain the distinction between "good offices," "mediation," and "arbitration." Cite some American instances of arbitration, and explain the attitude of the United States toward arbitration.

(c) Give the general arbitration clause and explain why "independence, vital interests, and honor" are excluded from the obligation of arbitration provided for by recent treaties.

Washington, August 12, 1900.

The Government of the United States learns with satisfaction of the appointment of Earl Li Hung Chang as envoy plenipotentiary to conduct negotiations with the powers, and will, on its part, enter upon such negotiations with a desire to continue the friendly relations so long existing between the two countries.

It is evident that there can be no general negotiation between China and the powers so long as the ministers of the powers and the persons under their protection remain in their present position of restraint and danger, and that the powers can not cease their efforts for the delivery of these representatives, to which they are constrained by the highest considerations of national honor, except under an arrangement adequate to accomplish a peaceable deliverance.

We are ready to enter into an agreement between the powers and the Chinese Government for a cessation of hostile demonstrations, on condition that a sufficient body of the forces composing the relief expedition shall be permitted to enter Peking unmolested and to escort the foreign ministers and residents back to Tientsin; this movement being provided for and secured by such arrangements and dispositions of troops as shall be considered satisfactory by the generals commanding the forces composing the relief expedition.

XXII. REGULATIONS GOVERNING APPOINTMENTS AND PROMOTIONS IN THE CONSULAR SERVICE.

EXECUTIVE ORDERS.

Whereas, The Congress, by Section 1753 of the Revised Statutes of the United States has provided as follows:

"The President is authorized to prescribe such regulations for the admission of persons into the civil service of the United States as may best promote the efficiency thereof, and ascertain the fitness of each candidate in respect to age, health, character, knowledge, and ability for the branch of service into which he seeks to enter; and for this purpose he may employ suitable persons to conduct such inquiries, and may prescribe their duties, and establish regulations for the conduct of persons who may receive appointments in the civil service."

And, whereas, the Congress has classified and graded the consuls-general and consuls of the United States by the act entitled "An act to provide for the reorganization of the consular service of the United States," approved April 5, 1906, and has thereby made it practicable to extend to that branch of the civil service the aforesaid provisions of the Revised Statutes and the principles embodied in the Civil Service Act of January 16, 1883.

Now, therefore, in the exercise of the powers conferred upon him by the Constitution and laws of the United States, the President makes the following regulations to govern the selection of consuls-general and consuls in the civil service of the United States, subject always to the advice and consent of the Senate:—

1.* Vacancies in the office of consul-general and in the office of consul above class six shall be filled by promotion from the lower grades of the consular service, based upon ability and efficiency as shown in the service, provided, however, that, whenever the good of the service requires, consuls of classes three, four, and five to serve as assistants to consuls-general in economic investigational work may be appointed from among candidates who shall have successfully passed an examination equivalent in character to that prescribed by the Civil Service Commission for economist in addition to the usual oral examination for the consular service; but consuls so specially chosen shall in no case exceed a total number of twenty-five and shall not be eligible for promotion to the higher grades of the consular service until they shall have served satisfactorily at least four years in responsible charge of consulates of class three, four, or five. Consuls already in the service of class six or above who have demonstrated their ability to perform the character of economic work required shall be given preference over specially chosen candidates.

2.* Vacancies in the office of consul of class six and class seven shall be filled—

(a) By promotion on the basis of ability and efficiency, as shown in the service, of vice consuls, consular assistants and interpreters in the diplomatic or consular service who shall have been appointed to such offices upon examination.

(b) By new appointments of candidates who have passed a satisfactory examination for appointment as consul as hereafter provided.

3.* Persons in the service of the Department of State with salaries of two thousand dollars or upwards shall be eligible for promotion on the basis of ability and efficiency as shown in the service, to any grade of the Consular Service above class 3 of vice consuls.

*As amended by Executive order of August 20, 1910.

4.* The Assistant Secretary of State, the Director of the Consular Service, the Chief of the Consular Bureau, and the Chief Examiner of the Civil Service Commission, or such persons as may be designated by the Secretary of State and the Commissioner President of the Civil Service Commission, respectively, to serve in their stead, are hereby constituted a board whose duty it shall be to determine, from among the persons designated by the President for examination, those who are fitted for possible appointment to the consular service.

5. It shall be the duty of the Board of Examiners to formulate rules for and hold examinations of applicants for admission to the consular service.

6. The scope and method of the examinations shall be determined by the Board of Examiners, but among the subjects shall be included at least one modern language other than English; the natural, industrial, and commercial resources and the commerce of the United States, especially with reference to the possibilities of increasing and extending the trade of the United States with foreign countries; political economy; elements of international, commercial, and maritime law.

7. Examination papers shall be rated on a scale of 100, and no person rated at less than 80 shall be eligible for certification.

8. No one shall be examined who is under twenty-one or over fifty years of age, or who is not a citizen of the United States, or who is not of good character and habits, and physically and mentally qualified for the proper performance of consular work, or who has not been specially designated by the President for appointment to the consular service subject to examination.

9.† Whenever a vacancy shall occur in the sixth or seventh class of consuls which the President may deem it expedient to fill, the Secretary of State shall inform the Board of Examiners, who shall certify to him the list of those persons eligible for appointment, accompanying the certificate with a detailed report showing the qualifications, as revealed by examination, of the persons so certified. If it be desired to fill a vacancy in a consulate in a country in which the United States exercises extraterritorial jurisdiction, the Secretary of State shall so inform the Board of Examiners, who shall include in the list of names certified by it only such persons as have passed the examination provided for in this order, and who also have passed an examination in the fundamental principles of the common law, the rules of evidence, and the trial of civil and criminal cases. The lists of names which the Board of Examiners shall certify shall be sent to the President for his information.

10. No promotion shall be made except for efficiency, as shown by the work that the officer has accomplished, the ability, promptness, and diligence displayed by him in the performance of all his official duties, his conduct, and his fitness for the consular service.

11.‡ It shall be the duty of the Board of Examiners to formulate rules for and hold examinations of persons designated for appointment as consular assistant or as student interpreter, and of such persons designated for appointment as vice consul and consular agent, as shall desire to become eligible for promotion. The scope and method of such examination shall be determined by the Board of Examiners, but it shall include the same subjects hereinbefore prescribed for the examination of consuls. Any vice consul or consular agent now in the service, upon passing such an examination shall become eligible for promotion, as if appointed upon such examination.

12. In designations for appointment subject to examination and in appointments after examination, due regard will be had to the rule, that as between candidates of equal merit, appointments should be so made as to secure proportional representation of all the States and Territories in the consular service; and neither in the designation for examination or certification or appointment will the political affiliations of the candidate be considered.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

THE WHITE HOUSE, June 27th, 1906.

* As amended by Executive order of May 31, 1921.

† As amended by Executive order of August 26, 1919.

‡ As amended by Executive order of December 12, 1900.

REGULATIONS GOVERNING EXAMINATIONS FOR THE CONSULAR SERVICE

1. The examinations will be the same for all grades and will be to determine a candidate's eligibility for appointment in the consular service, irrespective of the grade for which he may have been designated for examination and without regard to any particular office for which he may be selected.

2. The examinations will consist of an oral and a written one, the two counting equally. The object of the oral examination will be to determine the candidate's business ability, alertness, general contemporary information, and natural fitness for the service, including moral, mental, and physical qualifications, character, address, and general education and good command of English. In this part of the examination the applications previously filed will be given due weight by the Board of Examiners, especially as evidence of the applicant's business experience and ability. The written examination will include those subjects mentioned in the Executive order, to wit, at least one modern language other than English—French, German, or Spanish;* the natural, industrial, and commercial resources and the commerce of the United States, especially with reference to possibilities of increasing and extending the foreign trade of the United States; political economy, and the elements of international, commercial, and maritime law. It will likewise include American history, government, and institutions; political and commercial geography; arithmetic (as used in commercial statistics, tariff calculations, exchange, accounts, etc.); the modern history, since 1850, of Europe, Latin America, and the Far East, with particular attention to political, commercial, and economic tendencies. In the written examination, composition, grammar, punctuation, spelling, and writing will be given attention.

3. To become eligible for appointment, except as student interpreter, in a country where the United States exercises extraterritorial jurisdiction, the applicant must pass the examination outlined above, but supplemented by questions to determine his knowledge of the fundamental principles of common law, the rules of evidence, and the trial of civil and criminal cases.

4. The examinations to be given candidates for appointment as student interpreters will follow the same course as in the case of other consular officers, provided, however, that no one will be examined for admission to the consular service as a student interpreter who is not between the ages of nineteen and twenty-six, inclusive, and unmarried; and, provided further, that upon appointment each student interpreter shall sign an agreement to continue in the service so long as his services may be required, within a period of five † years.

5. Upon the conclusion of the examinations the names of the candidates who shall have attained upon the whole examination an average mark of at least eighty, as required by the Executive order, will be certified by the Board to the Secretary of State as eligible for appointment in the consular service, and the successful candidates will be informed that this has been done.

6. The names of candidates will remain on the eligible list for two years, except in the case of such candidates as shall within that period be appointed, or as shall withdraw their names, and of candidates holding subordinate positions in the consular service, when eligibility shall not expire until appointment to consular rank or until separation from the service. Candidates whose names have thus been dropped from the eligible list will not again be eligible for appointment unless upon fresh application, designation anew for examination, and the successful passing of such second examination.‡

GENERAL INFORMATION REGARDING CONSULAR OFFICERS.

DUTIES OF CONSULAR OFFICERS.

Consular officers are expected to endeavor to maintain and promote all the rightful interests of American citizens, and to protect them in all privileges provided for by treaty or conceded by usage; to visa and, when so authorized, to issue passports; when permitted by treaty, law, or usage, to take charge of and settle the personal estates of Americans who may die abroad without legal or other representatives, and remit the proceeds to the Treasury in case they are not called for by a legal representative within one year; to ship, discharge, and, under certain conditions, maintain and send American seamen to the United States; to settle disputes between masters and seamen of American vessels; to investigate charges of mutiny or insubordination on the high seas and send mutineers to the United States for trial; to render assistance in the case of wrecked or stranded American vessels, and, in the absence of the master or other qualified person, take charge of the wrecks and cargoes if permitted to do so by the laws of the country; to receive the papers of American vessels arriving at foreign ports and deliver them after the discharge of the obligations of the vessels toward the members of their crews, and upon the production of clearances from the proper foreign port officials; to certify to the correctness of the valuation of merchandise exported to the United States where the shipment amounts to more than $100; to act as official witnesses to marriages of American citizens abroad; to aid in the enforcement of the immigration laws, and to certify to the correctness of the certificates issued by Chinese and other officials to Chinese persons coming to the United States; to protect the health of our seaports by reporting weekly the sanitary and health conditions of the ports at which they reside, and by issuing to vessels clearing for the United States bills of health describing the condition of the ports, the vessels, crews, passengers, and cargoes; and to take depositions and perform other acts which notaries public in the United States are authorized or required to perform. A duty of prime importance is the promotion of American commerce by reporting available opportunities for the introduction of our products, aiding in the establishment of relations between American and foreign commercial houses, and lending assistance wherever practicable to the marketing of American merchandise abroad.

In addition to the foregoing duties, consular officers in China, Turkey, Siam, Morocco, and a few other so-called non-Christian countries, are invested with judicial powers over American citizens in those countries. These powers are usually defined by treaty, but generally include the trial of civil cases to which Americans are parties, and in some instances extend to the trial of criminal cases.

VICE CONSULS.

Vice consuls are consular officers subordinate to consuls general or consuls, and perform consular duties within the limits of their consulates at the same or at different points and places from those at which their principals are located, except that when they take charge of a consulate general or a consulate during the absence of the principal officer they are regarded as substitute officers. They perform such duties of the consular offices to which they may be assigned as are described in the Consular Regulations and Laws of the United States, and which they may be directed to perform by the principal officer under whom they serve.

There are two grades of vice consuls—one designated vice consuls de carrière, vacancies in which are filled by promotion from the grades of consular assistant and student interpreter or by the appointment of candidates who have satisfactorily passed the examination for consul or vice consul prescribed by the Executive order of June 27, 1906; and the other vice consul not of career, vacancies in which grade are filled by candidates selected by the Secretary of State, without examination. Vice consuls de carrière are eligible to promotion on the basis of ability and efficiency without further examination from Class III (salary $2,500) to Class II (salary $2,750); thence to Class I (salary $3,000), after which they are eligible to promotion to the grade of consul of Class VI (salary $3,500). Vice consuls not of career are not eligible to promotion to the grade of vice consul de carrière and consul without undergoing the usual examination. They receive compensation at the rate of one-half the salary of the principal officer in charge of the post, but only for the period during which he may be absent on leave or for other reasons. Vice consuls not of career receive no other compensation unless they be also employed as clerks, in which case they receive salary for their services as clerks, ranging as a rule from $500 to $2,000, according to the location and responsibility of the post to which they may be assigned.

CONSULAR AGENTS.

A consular agent is an officer subordinate to a consul general or consul, exercising similar powers at a place different from that at which the consulate general or consulate is situated. He acts under the direction of his principal, and one-half of the fees collected by him constitute his compensation, which may not exceed $1,000 in any one year. Consular agents pay the rent of their offices, the Government furnishing them with forms, record books, stationery, etc., for official use. A consular agent may engage in private business in the country of his official residence.

CONSULAR ASSISTANTS.

There are fifteen consular assistants, who are appointed by the President and hold office during good behavior. They may be assigned, from time to time, to such consular offices and with such duties as the Secretary of State may direct. When so assigned they are subordinate to the principal officer at the post, and perform such clerical or other duties of the office as he may designate. They receive a salary at the rate of $1,500 for the first year of continuous service, $1,650 for the second year of continuous service, $1,800 for the third year, and $2,000 for the fourth year of continuous service and for each year thereafter. Consular assistants are eligible for promotion to the grade of consul without further examination. It is the policy to designate only unmarried men between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-eight for examination to determine their eligibility for appointment to the corps of consular assistants.

CLERKS IN CONSULAR OFFICES.

Clerks in the consular offices are usually selected and appointed by the Secretary of State. The initial basic compensation of these positions is about $1,800 a year, depending upon the post. Compensation begins upon the date of departure for the post, and the cost of transportation to the post is paid by the Government. Each clerk before his departure is required to sign an agreement to continue in the service for not less than two years in case his services should be desired.

In the case of men such appointments are restricted to those who are unmarried and without dependents, as it is now seldom found practicable to pay compensation in an amount sufficiently large to justify the appointment of married men, nor is the appropriation for transportation sufficient to permit the payment of transportation of wives and families of clerks in the foreign service.

The duties of clerks embrace bookkeeping, letter writing, recording and filing correspondence, typewriting, and such routine consular work as may be assigned to them by the officers in charge. It is desirable, though not imperative, that clerks should be stenographers and possess a knowledge of the language of the country in which they are to be employed. Only American citizens under thirty-five years of age are eligible as clerks with compensation of more than $1,000 per annum. Preference is given to honorably discharged soldiers and sailors who possess the requisite qualifications.

Women are equally eligible with men for clerkships in the Consular Service so far as the peculiar requirements of the service permit. The nature of the duties which consular employees are necessarily required to perform, especially in connection with ships and shipping, the handling of ships' crews, the clearing of vessels, the collection of commercial information, and general work outside the consular office, much of which must be performed under trying conditions and at all hours of the day or night, has made impracticable the employment of women generally. Climatic and social conditions also at many posts render it impossible for women to serve at them with satisfaction to themselves and advantage to the Government.

STUDENT INTERPRETERS.

Provision is made for ten student interpreters at the legation to China, six at the embassy to Japan, and ten at the embassy to Turkey. These officers receive annual salaries of $1,500 and allowances for tuition of $350 each in China and $200 each in Japan and Turkey, and are required to study the language of the country with a view of becoming interpreters to the American diplomatic and consular offices in China, Japan, and Turkey. Only citizens of the United States, unmarried men between the ages of nineteen and twenty-six years, are examined for appointment as student interpreters. Upon receiving an appointment each student interpreter is required to sign an agreement to continue in the service as interpreter to the legations and consulates so long as his services may be required within a period of five years. After acquiring the language of the country, they may be assigned to duty in diplomatic or consular offices.

COMPENSATION OF CONSULAR OFFICERS.

All consuls-general and consuls are prohibited from engaging in private business in the country in which they have their official residence, and the Department may extend this prohibition to any other consular officer or employee. Consular officers are required to account for all fees collected by them, and the salaries fixed by law or regulation constitute their sole and only compensation, except as specially provided in the case of consular agents, who are compensated, up to the limit of $1,000, by one-half of the fees collected by them.

TRAVELING EXPENSES.

Under regulations prescribed by the Secretary of State, the Government defrays the actual and necessary expenses of transportation and subsistence of consular officers and clerks in consulates and their families and effects in going to and returning from their posts or when traveling under orders, but makes no allowance for any expense incurred in connection with leaves of absence.

EXAMINATIONS.

As will be seen by reference to the foregoing regulations for promotion and examination, all candidates for the offices of consul of class 6 or 7, vice consul de carrière, consular assistant, and student interpreter, and also candidates for the offices of vice consul and consular agent who may desire to become eligible for promotion are required to pass the prescribed examination. Applicants for appointment as vice consul, not of career, consular agent, or clerk in the consular service are not required to be examined. Vice consuls, consular agents, and clerks can not, however, be promoted to be officers of career without having first passed the prescribed examination.

SAMPLE EXAMINATION FOR THE CONSULAR SERVICE.

CHICAGO, Dec. 17, 1911.

Mr. A. M., Florence, Italy.

SIR: We are in receipt of your favor of the 14th inst., and regret very much our inability to reduce the prices that we quoted. We should be sorry if the price list furnished interfered in any way with our entering into business relations with your firm, with which we have long desired to cooperate. Your offers, however, are so much below prices current that we prefer to lose an order rather than to cut our profits below a paying basis. For two months past textiles have been looking up, and, in line with other manufacturers, we should rather raise than lower quotations. In fact, we have decided to revise our price list on January 1, and prices will be, on an average, 5 per cent higher. We would advise you, therefore, to avail yourself of present favorable conditions by sending us an order at the prices quoted you, and we trust that you may see your way clear to do this. Awaiting your reply, we are,

Your obedient servants,

XXIII.—REGULATIONS GOVERNING INTERPRETERS AND STUDENT INTERPRETERS IN CHINA, JAPAN, AND TURKEY.

[Issued by the Acting Secretary of State, July 7, 1919.]

1. Nature and purpose of the office.—Student interpreters are consular officers. The office of student interpreters was created for the purpose of facilitating the training of personnel for the consular service in China, Japan, and Turkey, where an essential part of the equipment of officers is a knowledge of the Chinese, Japanese, or Turkish language. Consistently with that purpose, student interpreters are required to study the Chinese, Japanese, or Turkish language, and such other languages and subjects as may be required by these regulations or subsequent instructions, with a view to supplying interpreters and vice consuls to the embassies, legations, and consulates in China, Japan, and Turkey, and eventually diplomatic and consular officers able to speak, read, and write the language of those countries.

2. Salary and allowances.—The salary of student interpreters has been fixed by law at $1,500 a year. In addition to his salary each student in China is allowed $350 per annum and in Japan and Turkey $200 per annum for tuition, but this allowance ceases upon promotion of the student to the grade of interpreter. Interpreters are expected to bear their own expenses for tuition. In Japan and Turkey an allowance is made for payment of rent of quarters for student interpreters. In China furnished quarters are provided in premises owned by the United States. The cost of transportation between the United States and the post of duty and when traveling under orders of the Secretary of State, but not including travel in connection with leaves of absence, is reimbursed by the Government upon the submission of accounts in accordance with the Foreign Service Travel Regulations.

3. Eligibility for appointment.—In order to become eligible for appointment as a student interpreter it is necessary to be a citizen of the United States between the ages of 19 and 26, inclusive, unmarried, and to pass successfully the examination for student interpreter prescribed by the Executive order of June 27, 1906.

4. Method of selection and service agreement.—The method of selecting persons for appointment as student interpreters is required by law to be nonpartisan, and each student interpreter appointed must sign an agreement to continue as interpreter for the Government so long as his services may be required within a period of five years.

5. Preliminary instruction.—After appointment student interpreters will report to the Department of State when directed to do so and will there receive preliminary instruction in regard to the duties of their office for a period of not more than 30 days.

6. Entrance on duty abroad.—Upon the completion of the preliminary instruction period the students will report for duty to the head of the diplomatic mission in China, Japan, or Turkey, as the case may be, or to such other place as may be designated, and, except as otherwise provided herein, will remain there two years.

7. Nature of duties.—After entering upon their duties at the mission or other place designated, students will devote their time to the study of the language of the country and the other subjects listed in paragraph 11, under the supervision of the head of the mission and under the immediate direction of the language secretary or other designated officer, to the end that they may acquire the ability to read, write, and speak the language as well as a good knowledge of the other subjects prescribed and thus qualify for duty as interpreters and subordinate consular officers at missions and consulates. In addition to the foregoing, students will be required at the same time to study the local business methods and trade practices and to acquire facility in the use of the typewriter. The study of consular law, regulations, and administration will be included after the first year.

8. Tenure of office.—The retention of students in the service will depend upon their progress in mastering the language and the other prescribed subjects and upon their industry and good conduct.

9. Progress examinations.—Students will be examined quarterly by the language officer of the mission, or other designated officer, and a report of the examinations will be made annually to the chief of mission and by him transmitted to the Secretary of State with his own report upon the general efficiency, dependability, loyalty, and good moral conduct of the students. The substance of these reports will be entered upon the records of the students in the Department of State.

10. Consequences of failure in progress examinations.—In forwarding to the Secretary of State the examination papers and ratings of each student at the end of the first year after the student's arrival at the diplomatic mission, the chief of the mission will attach to the examination papers a report setting forth whether in his opinion and that of the language officer of the mission the student, by progress in his studies and by his conduct and bearing, has shown that he possesses the qualifications indispensable for successful work as an interpreter and as a consular officer. If his report should be unfavorable to the student, he will recommend either that the student be assigned to some subordinate position, the duties of which, in his judgment, the student may be capable of discharging, or that he be retired from the service.

11. Examination for promotion.—At the end of two years after entry on duty at the mission, or earlier if in the judgment of the language secretary preparation therefor has been made, students may take the following examination for promotion to the grade of junior interpreter, the salary of which is $2,500.

EXAMINATION A.—JUNIOR INTERPRETER.

- (a) Chinese, Japanese, or Turkish language (moderately difficult conversation, official and commercial correspondence, and translation from newspapers and periodicals).
- (b) Political history and political institutions of the country.
- (c) Commercial geography of the country.
- (d) Foreign trade of the country.
- (e) Elementary knowledge of such of the laws of the country as pertain to the duties which the student may ultimately be called upon to perform as a consular officer.
- (f) Elementary law of American citizenship and the elements of practice in handling consular invoices.
- (g) French language (for students in Turkey).

12. Method of examination.—These examinations shall be held by a board composed of the language officer, one consular officer, and one qualified American designated by the head of the mission. The examinations shall be both oral and written, and in order to pass students must receive a rating of 80 in a scale of 100.

The findings of the board, accompanied by the papers in the written examinations and a detailed report of the special qualifications, industry, moral conduct, and dependableness of each student will be made by the head of the mission to the Secretary of State for consideration and approval. Inasmuch as the findings of the board are not effective until approved, no information in regard to the ratings given by the board should be communicated to the candidates except upon the specific authority of the Secretary of State.

All examinations will take place at the diplomatic mission in the country of which the students are studying the language unless orders to the contrary are issued by the Secretary of State. In the event that the exigencies of the service shall not permit students who may have been detailed elsewhere to return to Tokyo, Peking, or Constantinople for the purpose of examination, the head of the mission may, after the preparation of the papers by the language officer, mail them in personal and sealed envelopes to the officer in charge of the post at which the student is serving, which officer shall conduct the written examinations in the same manner as if they were being held at the diplomatic mission, leaving the oral part of the examination to be taken at the diplomatic mission or elsewhere when feasible, as the Secretary of State may determine in each case.

13. Effect of failure in examination.—If at the completion of the first period of two years' study the student shall be unable to pass the prescribed examination, he shall be permitted, at the discretion of the chief of mission and language officer, to continue his studies at the mission for not more than one year longer. If he shall still be unable to pass the examination he shall be ordered to the United States and his separation from the service shall become immediately effective.

INTERPRETERS.

14. Appointment.—Student interpreters who successfully pass examination A, and whose efficiency records are in other respects satisfactory will be promoted to the grade of junior interpreter in the Consular Service or vice consul of career, whichever the Secretary of State may in his discretion determine, subject, however, to the rule that promotion to the grades of junior interpreter or vice consul may not be made until the student shall have attained the legal age of 21 years.

15. Salary and allowances.—The salary of the grade of junior interpreter or vice consul of career to which student interpreters are eligible for promotion is $2,500. Junior interpreters and vice consuls who have attained said grades by promotion from the grade of student interpreter may in time, upon passing the prescribed examination, be promoted to the grade of senior interpreter or the equivalent grade of vice consul of career at a salary of $3,000 per annum, after which they will be eligible to appointment as consul of Class VI ($3,500). No allowance is made to junior and senior interpreters, and vice consuls for tuition or for quarters, but expenses of travel between the United States and the post of duty abroad, or when traveling under orders of the Secretary of State, but not including travel in connection with leaves of absence, will be reimbursed upon the submission of accounts in accordance with the Foreign Service Travel Regulations.

16. Duties.—Interpreters and vice consuls are subordinate to the consular officer in charge of the post to which they may be assigned, and it will be their duty to perform, under his direction, the work of translating and interpreting and such other duties in the office as may in the judgment of the officer in charge be necessary, including the preparation of accounts, the drafting of correspondence, the filing and recording of correspondence, the certification of invoices, notarial work, the handling of citizenship and passport cases, the coding and decoding of telegrams, and the preparation of trade reports provided that until he shall have reached the grade of senior interpreter or the corresponding grade of vice consul, each interpreter shall be given one hour each day, within the established office hours, to be used for the purpose of study, unless in the judgment of the officer in charge of the post, the volume of business of the office renders this course impracticable.

17. Examination for promotion.—At the expiration of two years after appointment to the grade of junior interpreter, or equivalent grade of vice consul of career, or earlier, if in the judgment of the language officer of the mission preparation therefor has been made, the following examination may be taken for promotion to the grade of senior interpreter or equivalent grade of vice consul of career, the salary of which grade is $3,000 per annum.

EXAMINATION B.—SENIOR INTERPRETER.

1. Advanced Chinese, Japanese, or Turkish (conversation, composition, and translation from newspapers and current periodicals).
2. Political history and political institutions of the country.
3. Commercial geography, resources, and industries of the country.
4. Foreign trade of the country.
5. Elementary knowledge of the law of the country as affecting foreigners.
6. International and commercial law.
7. Consular regulations and practice.
8. French language (conversation, translation, and composition) for students in Turkey.

18. Method of examination.—The method of examination will be that prescribed for the grade of junior interpreter which is described in paragraph 12 of these regulations.

19. Promotion.—Upon successfully passing the foregoing examination junior interpreters will be promoted to the grade of senior interpreter, the corresponding grade of vice consul, assistant assessor on the mixed court at Shanghai, or vice consul, who shall, when necessary, discharge the duties of assistant language secretary of the diplomatic mission, the salary of these positions being $3,000 a year. Thereafter said senior interpreters, vice consuls, or assistant assessors shall be eligible for promotion on the basis of efficiency as shown in the service and without further examination to the grade of language secretary at the diplomatic mission, assessor of the mixed court at Shanghai, or consul of Class VI, the salary of the first being $3,600 and of the last two $3,500.

GENERAL.

20. Speedy advancement encouraged.—The chiefs of diplomatic missions, as well as consuls general and consuls, are expected to exert every proper effort to encourage student interpreters and interpreters consistently with the other responsibilities placed upon them by these regulations to apply themselves industriously to the task of qualifying for their examinations in order that the foreign service organization in the three countries mentioned may as speedily as possible be equipped with men conversant with the language, history, and institutions of the countries in which they are stationed.

21. Advisory control of chiefs of mission.—The chiefs of mission may exercise advisory control over the movements of the student interpreters and interpreters and recommend to the Secretary of State such transfer as may, in their judgment, serve the best interests of the Diplomatic and Consular Service and also have a broadening influence on the students and interpreters themselves by enabling them to acquire an intimate knowledge of conditions throughout the countries in which they are stationed. Chiefs of mission have no authority to transfer students and interpreters without the express approval of the Secretary of State in each instance.

22. Performance of office work by students.—Students attached to a mission may be required, in the discretion of the chief of mission, to perform some minor part of the official work of the mission, preference being given to consular work, to the end that they may gain useful knowledge of the mode of transacting official business and of the forms and practices employed therein. In Turkey work in the consulate general at Constantinople will, as far as practicable, be substituted for work in the embassy. The chief of mission will be careful, however, not to permit duties of the character mentioned to interfere with the duties of the student in acquiring a thorough knowledge of the language of the country.

23. Injunction against marriage.—It is desired that student interpreters and interpreters shall not marry until they shall have been in the service for a period of at least four years and shall have attained a position in the service with salary sufficient to justify them in assuming the financial responsibilities of a family.

24. Leaves of absence.—Officers who have been promoted to the rank of junior interpreter may be granted leave of absence for a period not to exceed 60 days, exclusive of transit time, when permission to visit the United States is expressly granted. The application for said leave of absence shall be made to the Secretary of State and must receive the approval of the officer under whom the interpreter may be serving at the time. Subsequent to the first leave of absence after the promotion to the grade of interpreter the provisions of the consular regulations governing leaves of absence will apply to the members of the corps of interpreters and vice consuls.

25. Efficiency records.—The officers under whom students, interpreters, and vice consuls serve are required to submit annually reports upon the efficiency and conduct of each of said officers, and efficiency records for students, interpreters, and vice consuls are kept in the Department of State along with like records for other diplomatic and consular officers.

The Department is not able definitely to forecast when vacancies in the service may occur.

Dependent upon the number of candidates, the examination lasts from three to six days. The written part of the examination covers a period of two days of six hours each. The first four subjects will be given on the first day, and the remaining subjects on the day following, probably in the order presented in the sample examination.

For sample examination for the Student-Interpreter Corps see page 228.

PAN-AMERICAN COMMITTEE OF THE UNITED STATES.Members.*—Medill McCormick, George H. Moses, Atlee Pomerene, Stephen G. Porter, John Jacob Rogers, J. Charles Linthicum, Harry A. Garfield, David D. Barrows, Henry White, Robert S. Brookings.Chairman.—Medill McCormick.XXXVII. INTERNATIONAL TRIBUNALS OF EGYPT.

In 1876, as the result of negotiations between the Ottoman and Egyptian Governments and the various Christian powers having representatives at Cairo, certain courts were created in Egypt for the trial of civil and commercial causes arising between natives and foreigners of different nationality, as well as all questions of real estate between any person and suits of foreigners against the Egyptian Government and members of the Khedival family. These mixed tribunals, in civil matters within their exclusive jurisdiction, superseded the consular courts. A mixed tribunal consists of five judges, three of whom are foreigners and two natives. The foreign judges are appointed by the Khedive on the recommendation of the great powers, each of which is represented by from one to three judges. There are three tribunals of original jurisdiction (first instance), one each at Cairo, Alexandria, and Mansura, and a court of appeals at Alexandria. The United States is represented in these courts by the following judges:

Court of appeals.—Jasper Yeates Brinton, of Pennsylvania (appointed 1921).Court of first instance.—William G. Van Horne, of Utah (appointed 1902); Pierre Crabités, of Louisiana (appointed 1911).
